PAUL E. MULLENHOUR JOINS LEAN LEARNING CENTER FACULTY

Novi, Mich., November 25, 2002 – The Lean Learning Center, a leading lean curriculum provider to a variety of industries, announces the joining of Paul E. Mullenhour to its staff. Named as a Lean Learning Center partner, Mullenhour will be responsible for teaching and consulting lean transformation at the Center and with clients.

Mullenhour brings to the Center tremendous experience in lean, Six Sigma, quality and supplier development. In addition to his duties at the Lean Learning Center, he will continue to serve as a senior management consultant for its affiliate company, Achievement Dynamics (Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.), a nationally-recognized lean principles and practices consulting firm.

Mullenhour is the former director of Supplier Development and Value Improvement for Rolls-Royce Corporation, North American Operations, where he was responsible for leading Supply Chain Management in defining quality, cost and delivery strategies as they relate to Best Value. He holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Toledo, is a graduate of the Goldratt Institute at Yale University, and a member of the American Society for Quality Control.

The Lean Learning Center was founded in early 2001 by manufacturing and consulting industry veterans Dennis Pawley, Andy Carlino and Jamie Flinchbaugh to address the gaps and barriers that are holding back companies from successful lean transformation. In addition to the advanced curriculum, the Center has developed a learning environment designed specifically for adult learning, utilizing techniques that include discovery simulations, case studies, personal planning and journaling. Industries served include manufacturing, healthcare, public utilities, retail, aerospace, communications, technology, investment equity, service and more.
